El Piedra (The Stone)

Reynaldo "El Piedra" Salgado is a boxer from Cartagena who makes a living working as "bait": he fights without any chance of winning. One day, Breyder appears: a street kid who claims to be his son and wants to be a boxer. Father and son learn to live together. Reynaldo will find someone who will make him feel worthy again, and Breyder will learn to admire the father who leads a hard life as opposed to the champion he thought he was. A different look at the sport of flat noses: not the stars, but the middle class; not the hero, but the worker; not the idol, but the man.

Chiribiquete

A forced landing caused by a storm led a passionate scientist to find a paradise to which he would end up devoting his life. Now, 30 years later, he returns to the Chiribiquete mountain range, in the heart of the Amazon, to lead an expedition in which he discovers the tepuis, the oldest geological formations on the planet, and the cave paintings that make it a place of great archeological interest. His return is documented by a young filmmaker who a testimony that blends both experiences, his own and that of the scientist.
